

FOOTBALL ELEVEN'S NEW YORK SKOUTS --- ROD AND GUN

PRINCETON PUNTING IS MUCH IMPROVED

Louie Averages 55 Yards With Slippery Ball—Rain Prevents Scrimmage.

CRIMSON PLAYS ANALYZED

Lipscomb Takes Baker's Place at Guard and May Play Against Harvard.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Rain again frustrated the hopes of the Tigers having a much needed scrimmage in preparation for Saturday's game with Harvard. Roper desired to let his men have a strenuous battle with the scrubs, but he was afraid to take any risks at this time. He concentrated on certain details which should have attention. Immediately after the entire squad reported Roper, Morry Trimble and Jack Wynn took the backs and ends over to one side for a drill on aerial attack. This was followed by a defensive session, in which the Crimson's passes were closely analyzed and each player told just what his job would be on a game day. The varsity and scrubs were then reassembled and lined up for a dummy scrimmage, which was as far as the mentors were willing to go in the line of strenuous exercise. This lasted for some time, and the men were run hard, although a slippery footing of sticky mire made the going difficult for the backs. A scrimmage will be held tomorrow if the clouds make any motion toward relenting in their downpour. Open practice in Palmer Stadium will be held and the under-graduates given a chance to show their favorites while in action. Lipscomb was in place of Pink Baker at right guard to-day, and there is a chance that a last minute change may give the former the call to start against Harvard. Baker has been first all year while in shape, but he has been battered considerably in both the Navy and Chicago games. He was held on the side lines for some time last Saturday due to bruises, and it may be that Roper will reserve the veteran for the Yale contest. Otherwise all Keene Fitzpatrick's charges are in excellent shape, including Louie and Garrity. The practice to-day, although scrimmage was forbidden, was far from being light, and a weary lot of play-ers finally trotted off the field. The team looked excellent, despite adverse weather conditions, and Roper seemed much pleased when the afternoon was over. Good punting seems to be a certainty now, as Louie is gradually improving under Keene Fitzpatrick's tutelage. The quarterback was getting off punts to-day in signal drill which averaged about fifty-five yards, despite a wet and slippery ball. On one occasion a spiral sailed for sixty. The varsity lineup to-day was as follows: Snively, left end; Capt. Keck, left tackle; Morgan, guard; Timmer, center; Lipscomb, right guard; Hooten, right tackle; Stinson, right end; Louie, quarterback; Gilroy and Garrity, halfbacks; Cleaves, fullback.

Penn Has Its Bitterest Scrimmage of the Year.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 2.—Penn's varsity squad to-day was sent through its longest and bitterest scrimmage of the year, the final stages being waged under the glare of the powerful floodlights installed at the west end of Franklin Field. Penn has taken on new hope for the big game with Lafayette's undefeated scrubs, and the team's morale was high. The Quaker regulars looked at least 100 per cent better than they did on Tuesday, commented one of the coaches after a smashing win of a large number of gridiron aspirants. After the varsity had battled Tom McNamara's scrubs to a standstill in a tilt which went well over an hour, Coach Jack Keck's scrappy freshmen eleven were hurled against the tired but still fighting varsity. All the scoring of the afternoon was confined in the final clash with the freshmen, the varsity crushing through for two touchdowns, while the freshmen managed to cross the goal line once.

Cornhuskers Hope to Hold Pittsburgh to a Low Score.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 2.—Coach Fred Dawson, former football tutor at Columbia University, is ready to invade the East with Nebraska for battle with Pittsburgh on Saturday. The entire Cornhusker squad is physically fit, and will go East hoping to hold Coach Warner's eleven to a low score. Pittsburgh has a team of veterans, while Dawson has only one third-year man on his eleven, Captain Swanson. Seven of the Cornhuskers are playing their first year of college football. These members being: Nixon, center; Peterson, guard; Bergquist, guard; Lewellen, quarter; Preston, half; Noble, half, and Dewitt, fullback.

Three Injured Regulars Return to Fordham Practice.
One big point in favor of Fordham's success in its football game on Saturday with Georgetown lies in the fact that all three Maroon players who had been on the hospital list are again in fit condition to enter the game at a minute's notice. For the first time in several weeks Hogan, Larkin and Arthur Bricker, who were injured in the game with the Red and Blue, are back in the training stunts but the scrimmage. The Maroon varsity had its last scrimmage prior to the Georgetown game. Two eleven, one led by Connors and the other guided by Gus Shankley, were pitted against one another in a long scrimmage. At the close of this clash Connors' eleven scored four touchdowns to the second's one. Tommy Meyers, the veteran Maroon halfback, also scored a few more points for the varsity by making two pretty field goals. The first was only from the line, but the other travelled all the way from the 46 yard line.

Amherst Apparently Has Edge on Wesleyan Team.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WILMINGTON, Conn., Nov. 2.—Amherst apparently has the edge on Wesleyan with five veterans on the line to two for Wesleyan and with a line averaging 171 pounds to 164 for Wesleyan. The Cardinal and Black, however, has shown power on the defense against heavier teams, and Coach Martin and Dr. Fawcett are building up a strong defense in preparation for Saturday's game. Parsons has been shifted from quarterback to tackle. Conway and Atkins are being coached as temporary reliefs for Foster, the crack center, who will be used at crucial moments.

HOW DO YOU THINK THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE WILL PAN OUT, JIM? IF THIS THING FAILS I DON'T KNOW WHAT'S GOING TO BECOME OF US.

IT LOOKS LIKE THE ONE WAY OUT. IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE THAT THE HUMAN RACE WILL BE STUPID ENOUGH TO KEEP ON WITH THIS WAR POLLY.

AS I WAS SAYING—

WE'RE TALKED TO DEATH AND FOR WHAT? TO KEEP A LOT OF GUM COATS ANCHORED IN OUR HARBORS? KNOW WHAT THE BATTLESHIP MARYLAND COST? $42,000,000!!

I CAN'T REALIZE THAT WE EVER LINED UP IN THE OLD DAYS WHEN THERE WAS NO INCOME TAX.

SAY, JIM, I READ A CORKING BOOK LAST NIGHT CALLED BRASS. DEALS WITH MARRIAGE. ANYBODY THINKING OF GOING IN FOR MATRIMONY OUGHT TO READ IT.

I'M STILL READING MAIN STREET.

S'POSE YA GOT YOUR WIFE'S COAL IN?

5 TONS. WE NEED 20.

AS I WAS SAYING—THE FLOW OF GAS IS IN A STRAIGHT LINE SO THERE ARE NO POCKETS IN WHICH A CARBON DEPOSIT MIGHT START. I'VE GOT A SQUEAKY CARBURETOR WITH A HOT AIR STOVE AND A WATER JACKETED INLET MANIFOLD. THE LUBRICATION IS THE FORCED FEED TYPE—ETC.

Five Line Substitutes Tried on Yale Varsity

Second String Players Get Chance to Shine.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—Yale Jones tried out five men in the Yale varsity line this afternoon, from tackle to tackle, who have been listed up to this time as first substitutes. Into and Diller, the tackles, were out in favor of Miller and Esselstyn; Cruikshank and Guernsey looked on, while MacKay and Galtwood went through the scrimmage in their places, and Harry Cross snatched the ball back instead of Landis. The regular end, Blair and Deaver, were in the game and the first string varsity backfield, consisting of Beckett, quarter; Aldrich and Jordan, halfbacks; and Malloy, fullback, composed the rest of the team. This eleven was given a thorough try-out against a strong scrum team, and while it made two touchdowns and a field goal the scrum outplayed the big team about half of the time. Neddinger, who took Jordan's place, made one of the touchdowns and Beckett the other. The final clash with the freshmen, the varsity crushing through for two touchdowns, while the freshmen managed to cross the goal line once.

Penn's $50,000 Boathouse Dedicated With a Race
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—In connection with the dedication of Penn's new $50,000 boathouse in Fairmount Park this afternoon, Capt. Eddie Mitchell's crew won the three-eighths mile course. Mattison's crew was second, the time being 1 minute 16 seconds. The Penn crew, consisting of Penn oarsmen and under-graduates turned out to see the dedicatory exercises. Now Penn has one of the best boathouses in college ranks. A large tablet in the new boathouse honoring the late Dr. J. William White, who was active in Penn's athletics for many years and helped stage the first Army-Navy football game, was unveiled.

Brown Tries Two New Ends on Varsity Eleven.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHOENIX, Nov. 2.—Coach Barrett, who was in the line at the end of the year, returned yesterday for the first time this week and although the men have entirely recovered from the effects of the Yale game, Coach Robinson is sticking to light workouts and devoting his attention toward strengthening the Bears' defensive work. St. Bonaventure is expected to open a fast, shifting attack, and while Brown is confident over the outcome it is taking no chances on a defeat.

Capt. Lehecka Rejoins Lafayette Varsity Squad.
EASTON, Pa., Nov. 2.—Joe Lehecka, captain and star halfback of the Lafayette College football team, rejoined the varsity squad on March Field this afternoon after an absence of more than a month. The injury received in the Pittsburgh center in injury received in the game with the Red and Blue.

Ohio State Player Suffers Broken Shoulder.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Halfback Frank Harkins of the Ohio State football team, "find" of the Minnesota game, suffered a broken shoulder to-day in a scrimmage preparatory to the Chicago State game. He will be out of the game the rest of the season. Harkins, a first string regular, who probably would have started in the game against Chicago as running mate to Johnny Stuart, will be replaced by Howard Harkins, halfback on the 1920 eleven, who has been out since early in the season because of injuries. Harkins' home is at Huntington, W. Va.

Williams Continues to Show Decided Improvement.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 2.—Highly encouraged by Saturday's victory over Columbia at New York, the Williams team is working with plenty of vigor this week for Saturday's game with

Union, to be staged here. This will be the last encounter before the Purple and the White. Amherst and Wesleyan in the final tussles of the year. Coach Wendell gave the varsity a long scrimmage here to-day the husky freshman team trotting out on the field to provide opposition. Despite the fact that the Purple Club boast of the strongest first year aggregation in several seasons, the varsity gained ground consistently, indicating that its attack is coming along in fine style.

Princeton Punting is Much Improved.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Rain again frustrated the hopes of the Tigers having a much needed scrimmage in preparation for Saturday's game with Harvard. Roper desired to let his men have a strenuous battle with the scrubs, but he was afraid to take any risks at this time. He concentrated on certain details which should have attention. Immediately after the entire squad reported Roper, Morry Trimble and Jack Wynn took the backs and ends over to one side for a drill on aerial attack. This was followed by a defensive session, in which the Crimson's passes were closely analyzed and each player told just what his job would be on a game day. The varsity and scrubs were then reassembled and lined up for a dummy scrimmage, which was as far as the mentors were willing to go in the line of strenuous exercise. This lasted for some time, and the men were run hard, although a slippery footing of sticky mire made the going difficult for the backs. A scrimmage will be held tomorrow if the clouds make any motion toward relenting in their downpour. Open practice in Palmer Stadium will be held and the under-graduates given a chance to show their favorites while in action. Lipscomb was in place of Pink Baker at right guard to-day, and there is a chance that a last minute change may give the former the call to start against Harvard. Baker has been first all year while in shape, but he has been battered considerably in both the Navy and Chicago games. He was held on the side lines for some time last Saturday due to bruises, and it may be that Roper will reserve the veteran for the Yale contest. Otherwise all Keene Fitzpatrick's charges are in excellent shape, including Louie and Garrity. The practice to-day, although scrimmage was forbidden, was far from being light, and a weary lot of play-ers finally trotted off the field. The team looked excellent, despite adverse weather conditions, and Roper seemed much pleased when the afternoon was over. Good punting seems to be a certainty now, as Louie is gradually improving under Keene Fitzpatrick's tutelage. 1,200 Midshipmen to See Penn-Navy Game at Phila.

Half the Student Body to Root for Team.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—About twelve hundred midshipmen, half of the student body of the Naval Academy, were delighted to-day by the announcement that they would be permitted to go to Philadelphia on November 12 for the purpose of seeing the game between the Navy eleven and that of Penn State.

Union, to be staged here. This will be the last encounter before the Purple and the White. Amherst and Wesleyan in the final tussles of the year. Coach Wendell gave the varsity a long scrimmage here to-day the husky freshman team trotting out on the field to provide opposition. Despite the fact that the Purple Club boast of the strongest first year aggregation in several seasons, the varsity gained ground consistently, indicating that its attack is coming along in fine style.

Brown Tries Two New Ends on Varsity Eleven.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHOENIX, Nov. 2.—Coach Barrett, who was in the line at the end of the year, returned yesterday for the first time this week and although the men have entirely recovered from the effects of the Yale game, Coach Robinson is sticking to light workouts and devoting his attention toward strengthening the Bears' defensive work. St. Bonaventure is expected to open a fast, shifting attack, and while Brown is confident over the outcome it is taking no chances on a defeat.

Capt. Lehecka Rejoins Lafayette Varsity Squad.
EASTON, Pa., Nov. 2.—Joe Lehecka, captain and star halfback of the Lafayette College football team, rejoined the varsity squad on March Field this afternoon after an absence of more than a month. The injury received in the Pittsburgh center in injury received in the game with the Red and Blue.

Ohio State Player Suffers Broken Shoulder.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 2.—Halfback Frank Harkins of the Ohio State football team, "find" of the Minnesota game, suffered a broken shoulder to-day in a scrimmage preparatory to the Chicago State game. He will be out of the game the rest of the season. Harkins, a first string regular, who probably would have started in the game against Chicago as running mate to Johnny Stuart, will be replaced by Howard Harkins, halfback on the 1920 eleven, who has been out since early in the season because of injuries. Harkins' home is at Huntington, W. Va.

Williams Continues to Show Decided Improvement.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 2.—Highly encouraged by Saturday's victory over Columbia at New York, the Williams team is working with plenty of vigor this week for Saturday's game with

Amherst Apparently Has Edge on Wesleyan Team.
Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. WILMINGTON, Conn., Nov. 2.—Amherst apparently has the edge on Wesleyan with five veterans on the line to two for Wesleyan and with a line averaging 171 pounds to 164 for Wesleyan. The Cardinal and Black, however, has shown power on the defense against heavier teams, and Coach Martin and Dr. Fawcett are building up a strong defense in preparation for Saturday's game. Parsons has been shifted from quarterback to tackle. Conway and Atkins are being coached as temporary reliefs for Foster, the crack center, who will be used at crucial moments.
